Description

The trek through Bach Ma National Park offers a captivating experience for nature enthusiasts with a reasonable level of fitness, as it involves a substantial amount of walking. Your journey will begin with a drive south from Hue, covering approximately 41 kilometers to reach Bach Ma Mountain. Upon entering the National Park, you will embark on a 15-kilometer scenic drive uphill to the station, where the Morin family company (Société en nom collectif Morin Frère) established a hill resort in 1932. Today, these historic villas provide basic accommodation and serve as the base for the treks.

The main trekking route is the Ngu Ho Trail, which takes about three hours to complete a loop. This trail guides you through lush, primeval jungles and along a creek that cascades through five stunning waterfalls, culminating at Do Quyen Falls. With a remarkable height of 300 meters, the falls offer a breathtaking view from the top, overlooking the expansive landscape. You will then continue the hike, looping back to the station.

Following lunch, a short walk will take you to the peak platform, situated at an elevation of 1,444 meters above sea level, where you can enjoy panoramic views of the verdant coastal lowlands. Finally, you will hike back to the Morin Station and commence your return journey to Hue.
